

Unfortunately, we must cancel the IRP Fall 2020 semester.

The following circumstances have led to this decision:

For persons that have contracted the COVID-19 Corona virus, the death rate for seniors age 65+ is much greater than the population less than 65.

While we believe in the importance of the IRP mission, we cannot justify the increased risk of large group gatherings which could contribute to the deaths of one or several of our members. Wilson College is also taking a cautious approach and will not allow hosted organizations to conduct large group gatherings during the pandemic.

We are hoping that an effective vaccine will be developed, tested, produced, and distributed before 2021. In the December – January timeframe, we will reassess the situation and keep you informed of our planning at that time.

Enrollment fees paid for the 2020 semesters will be credited for 2021 enrollment.

Please send any questions to John Ricca, IRP Information Coordinator: johnricca@earthlink.net or 717-352-8996.

Please stay safe by wearing a face mask in public (especially indoors), wash hands frequently, and keep social distancing (six feet separation) when in public.

Best wishes to you and your family during these challenging times.
